Subject: Social Security Podcast Discusses Deciding When To Start Receiving Retirement Benefits

Dear Colleague:

I am pleased to share with you a Social Security podcast on the important factors in deciding when to retire. The decision on when to collect Social Security benefits is a very personal decision and this podcast will explore some of the issues that should be considered.

To hear or download the podcast, go to www.socialsecurity.gov/podcasts. We also ask that you share this information with your members, colleagues and other interested parties. Together, we can provide Americans with information that will help them better plan for a secure retirement.

I look forward to the opportunity to discuss this relevant topic with you.

Sincerely,

Patti Patterson
Regional Communications Director
