

COMMUNICATIONS PROGRAM

Here are the themes that stood out across the four Communications area teams: English/EAP (including Reading, Writing, Speech):

- The transformative power of language
- Development of voice and confidence, resourcefulness
- Reading and writing as hooks to life-long learning
- Critical reasoning, reading, and research abilities
- Development of writing processes that lead to effective writing
- Communicative/Intercultural competence

Very similar statements of outcomes appear across these four groups. EAP in particular may have some specialized program outcomes, but all of the courses in these disciplines share similar communication goals. These groups offered different versions of the themes noted above in the form of learning outcomes.
