

Job Posting

WEB PRODUCER

The Web Producer is responsible for conceptualizing, designing and building Web site and e-newsletter content for the stations of WMFE which integrates and enhances programming and outreach material, corporate projects, supports fundraising activities and reflects the corporate personality of WMFE. The position handles day-to-day Web site updating and content maintenance; creates and publishes e-newsletters; handles or appropriately redirects e-correspondence; liaisons with PBS, NPR and national service providers; works with computer and engineering operations; works with programming, production, publicity, development and other content providers; keeps up to date on industry trends and plans new interactive services based on corporate goals. The position also has oversight of audio and video streaming, and either provides, or works with others (such as contractors) to provide, appropriate technical expertise to keep WMFE electronic communications functioning properly.

See wmfe.org/jobs for details. Resume and work samples to one of the following:

WMFE
Human Resources
11510 E. Colonial Drive
Orlando, FL 32817

or e-mail: jobs@wmfe.org

or fax: 407-206-2791